
Created by Jimmie @ jimmie.scollage.com

Ideas for using these reader's response cut-outs.

- Make a mini office. (Print full size for a 2 file folder mini-office. Print half size or two pages per sheet for a single file folder layout.)
- Make a bulletin board.
- Put the cut-outs in a zipper bag or card file.
- Make a poster.
- Decorate your reading journal.
- Make a mobile.

Use the blanks for your own sentence starters or reading response prompts.

Created by Jimmie © jimmie.scollage.com

I think the author is really trying to say....

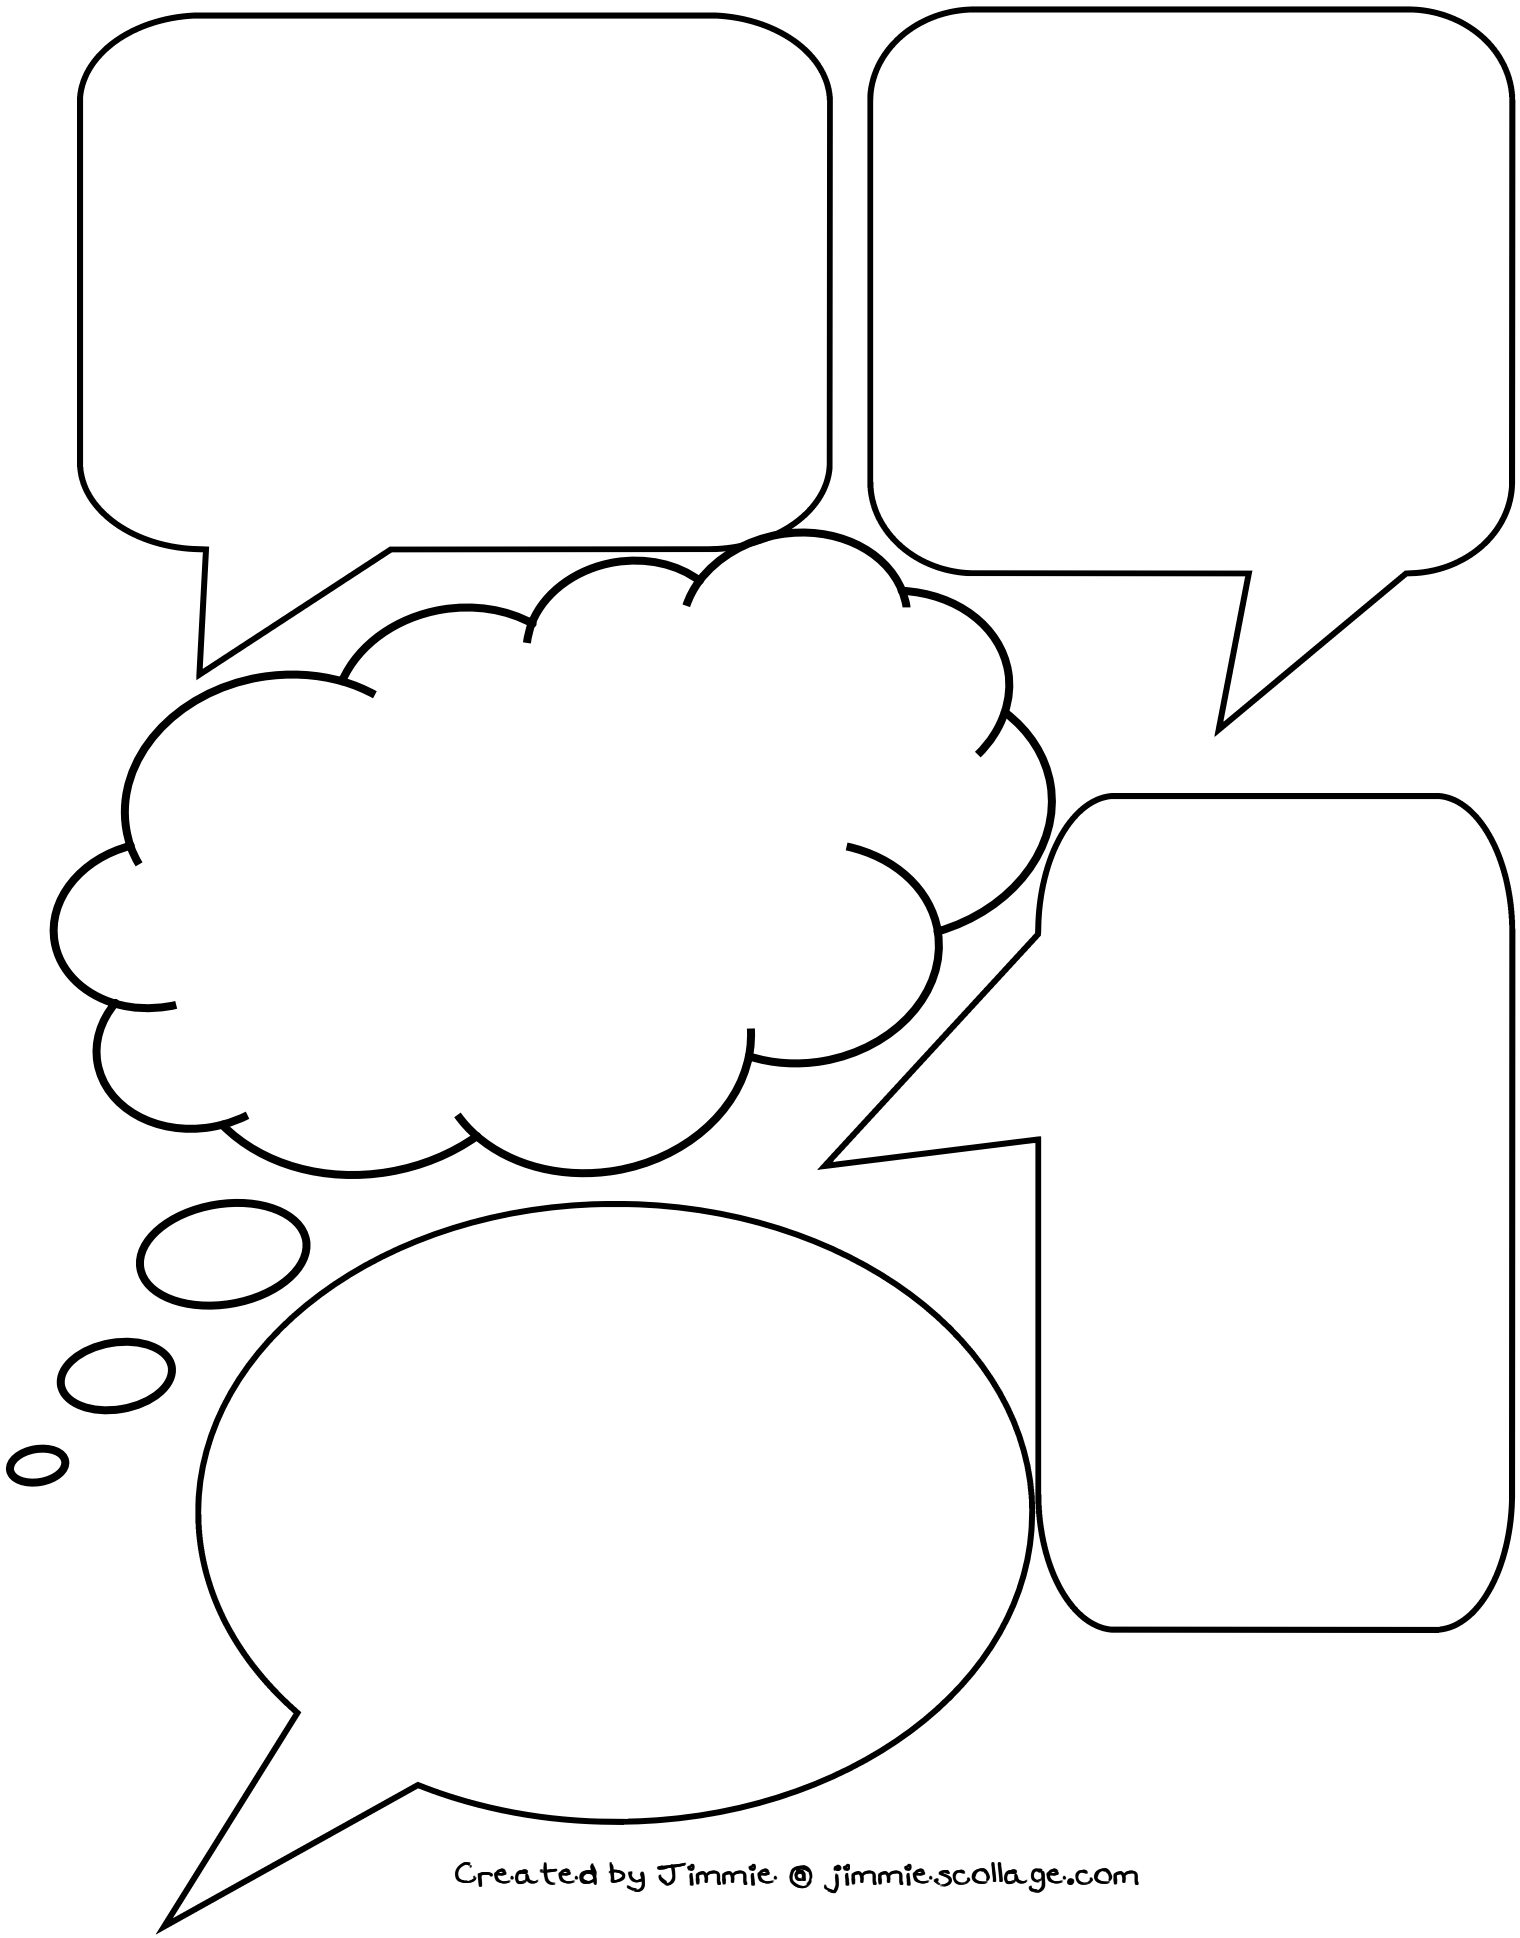
I think this part should be changed .....

_____ must be important because it repeats over and over.

At first I thought.....
But now I think .....

I really like this sentence, this phrase, or this word.

Created by Jimmie @ jimmie.scollage.com

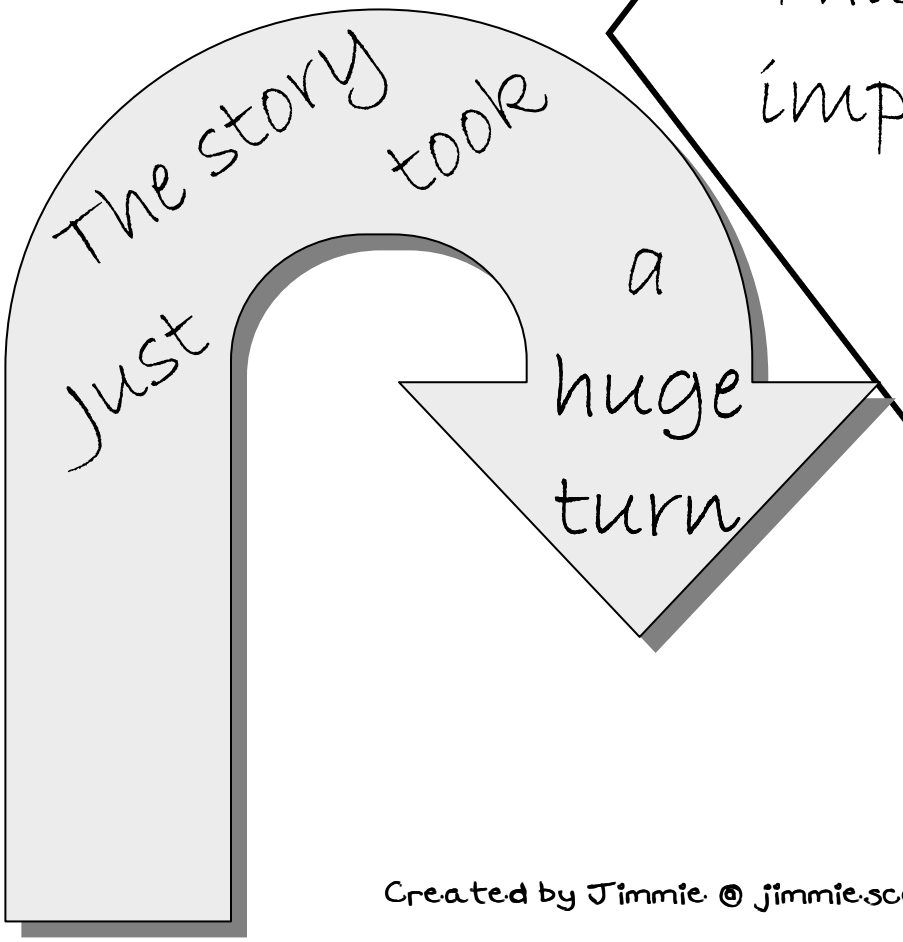


Created by Jimmie © jimmie.scollage.com

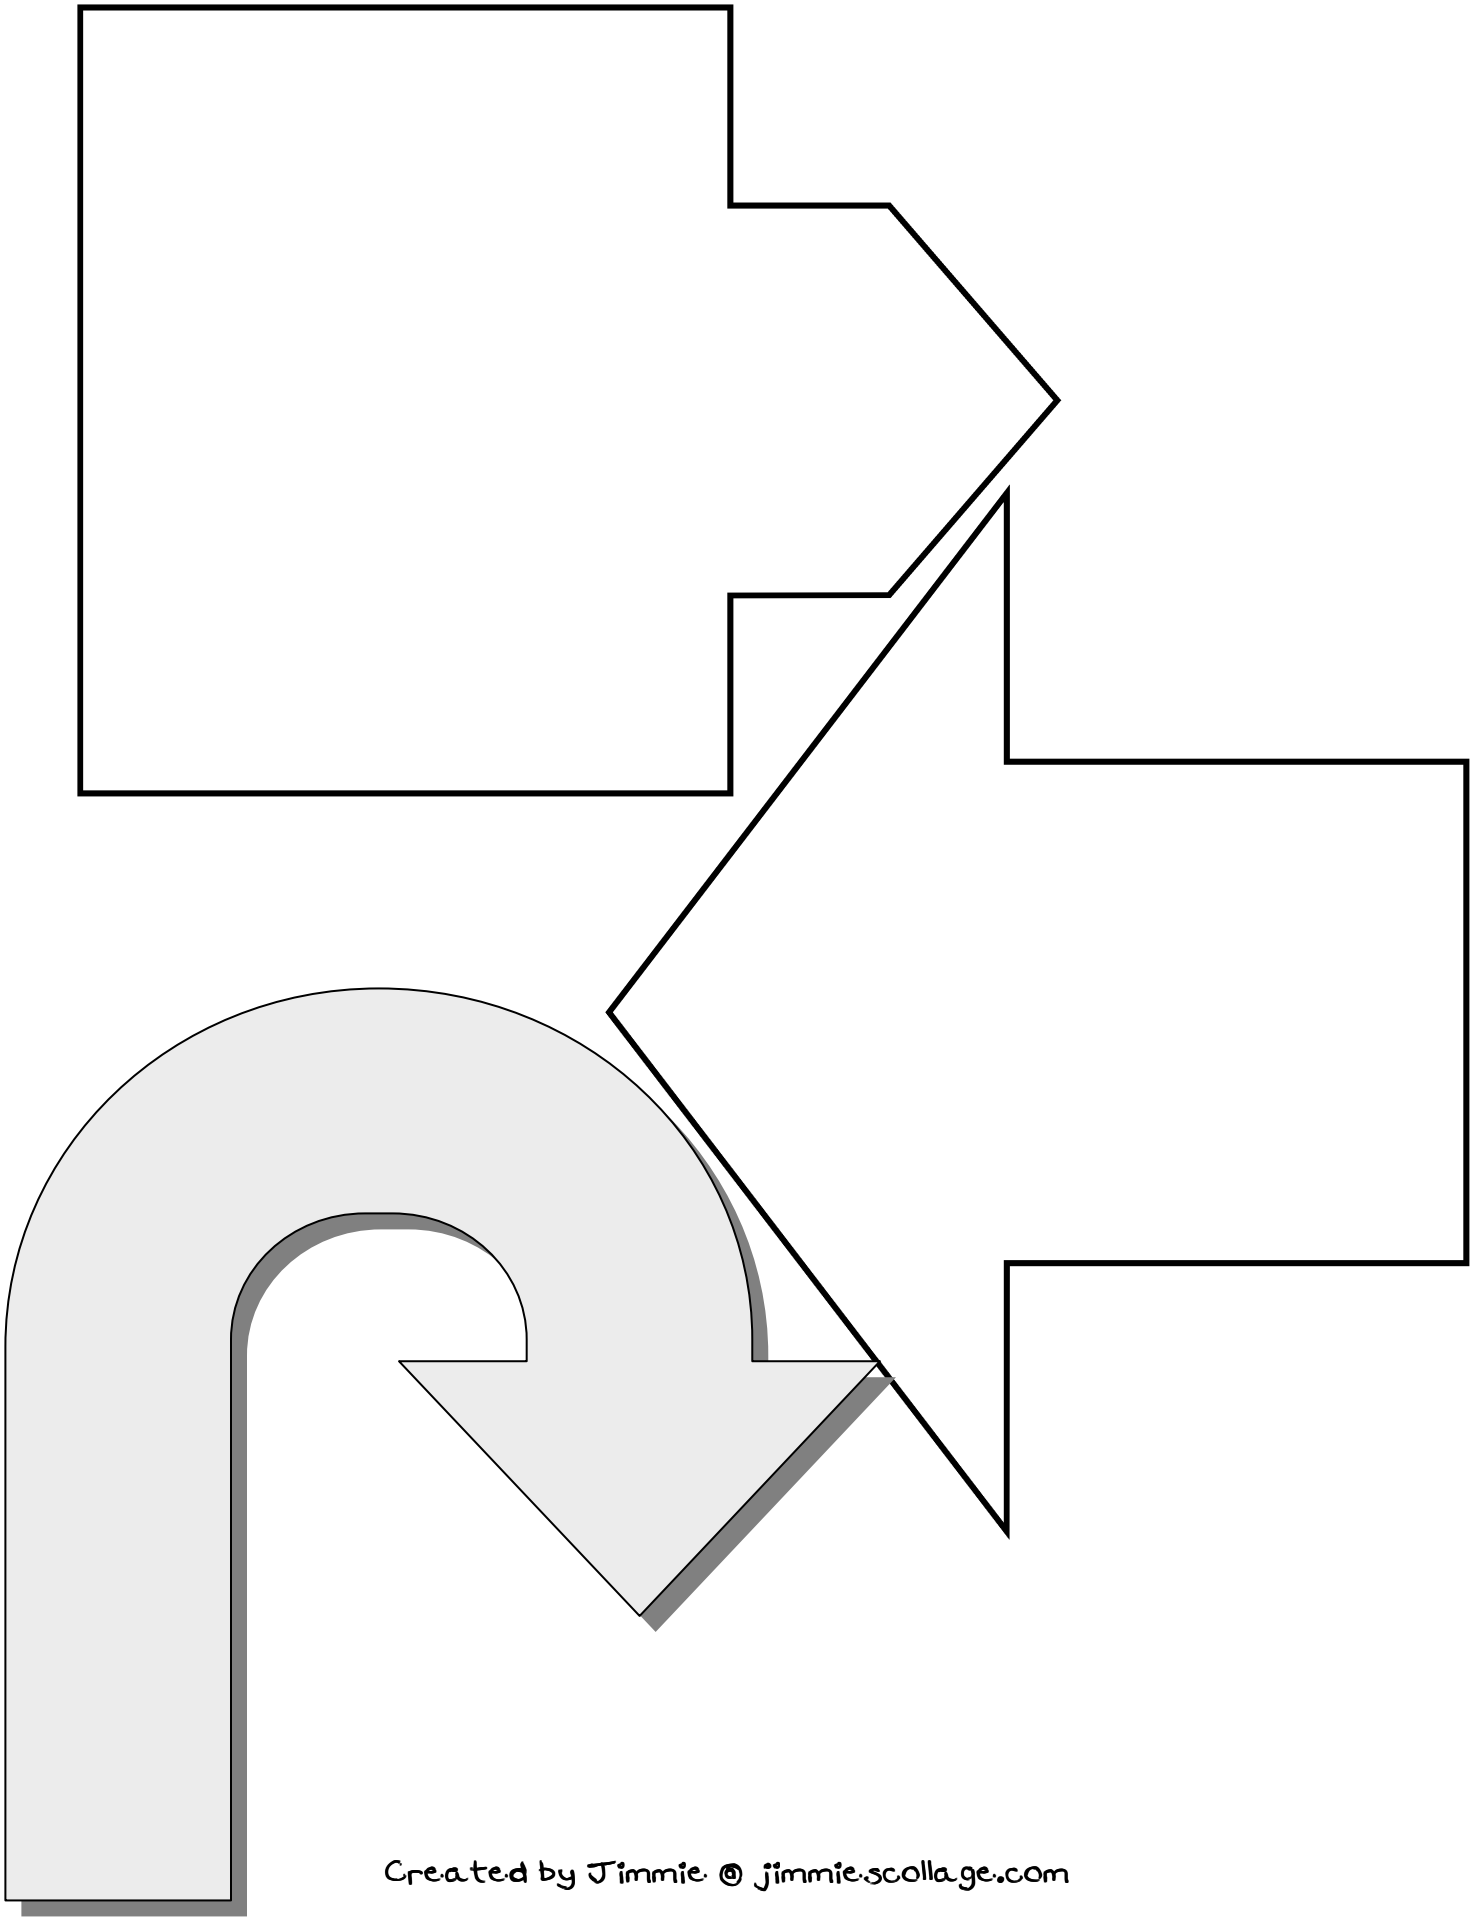
Sentence Starters

- I love the way...
- I wish that...
- It seems like...
- I wonder...
- I can't believe...
- I dislike ...
- If I were...

This part is very important.



Created by Jimmie © jimmie.scollage.com



Created by Jimmie © jimmie.scollage.com

I am puzzled or wonder about...

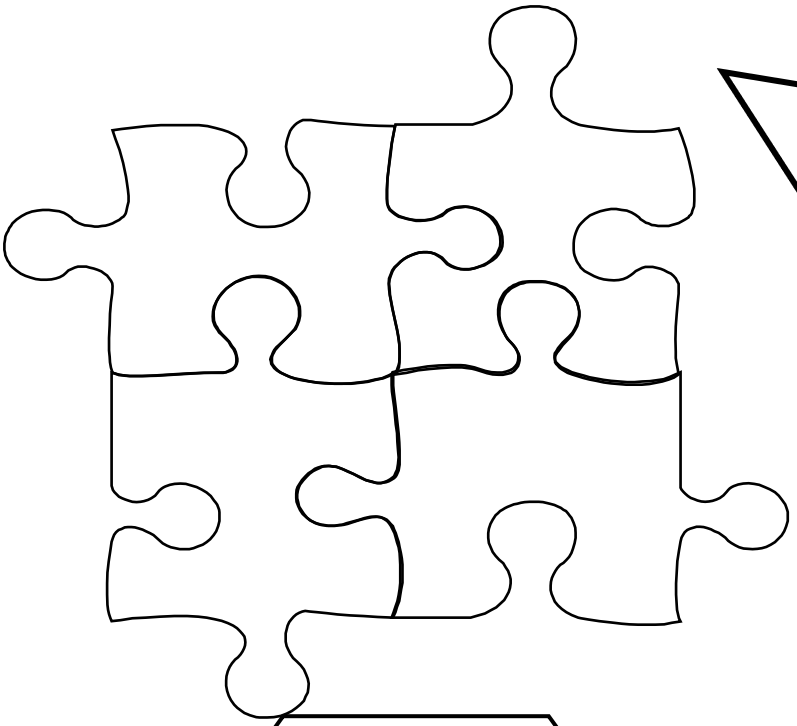
I learned something about a character.

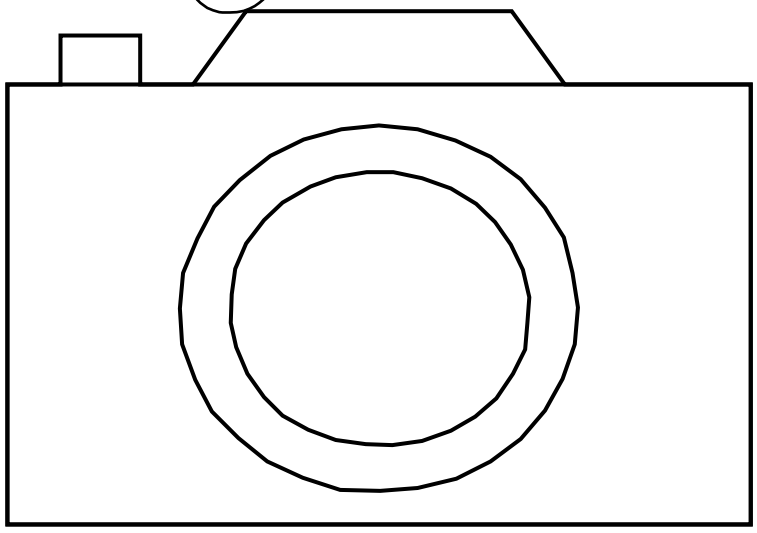
The author's words made a picture in my mind.

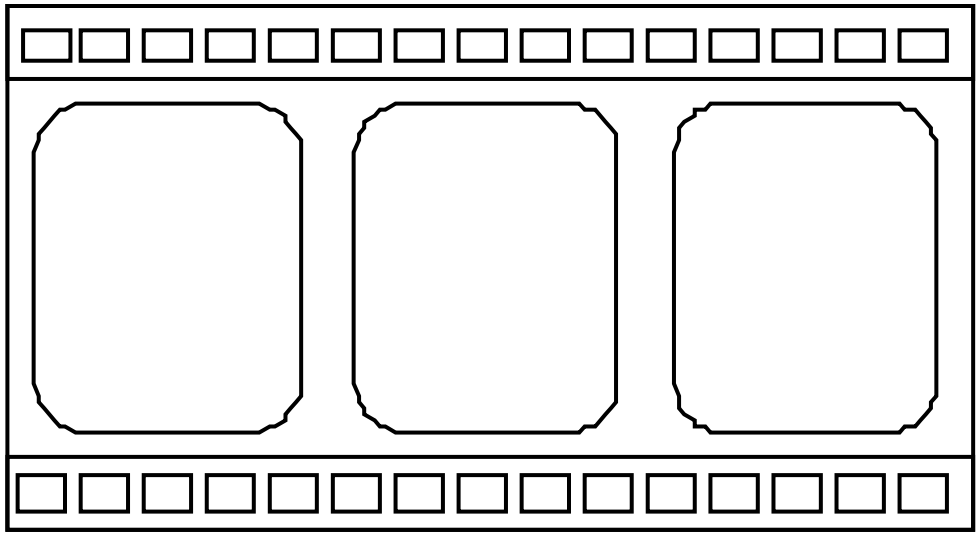
The setting of the story is .....

Draw a comic strip of what you read.

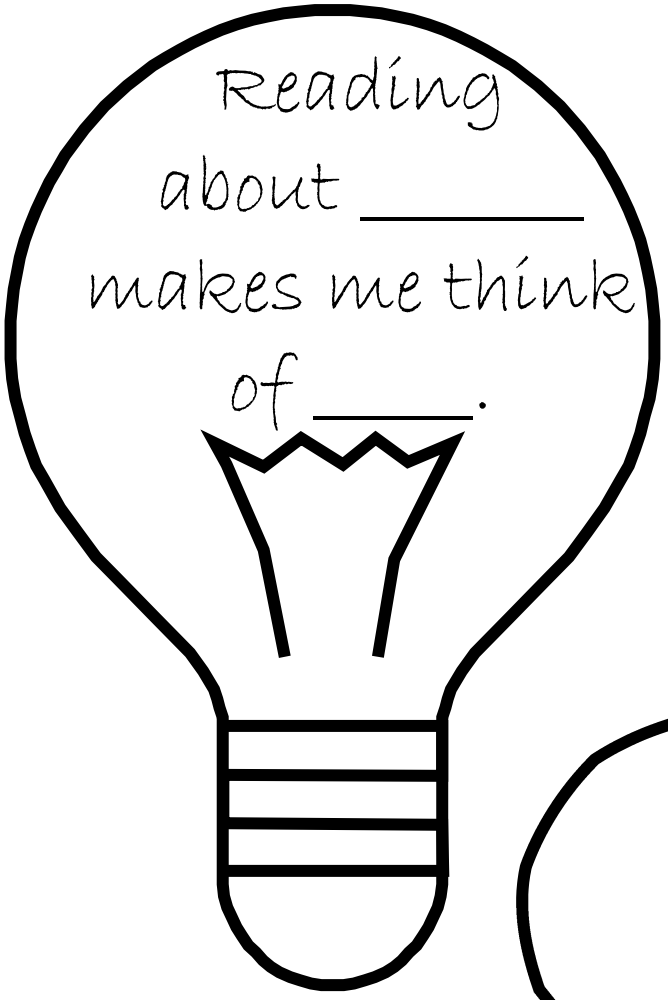
Created by Jimmie © jimmie.scollage.com







Created by Jimmie © jimmie.scollage.com



New words to look up later:

_____

_____

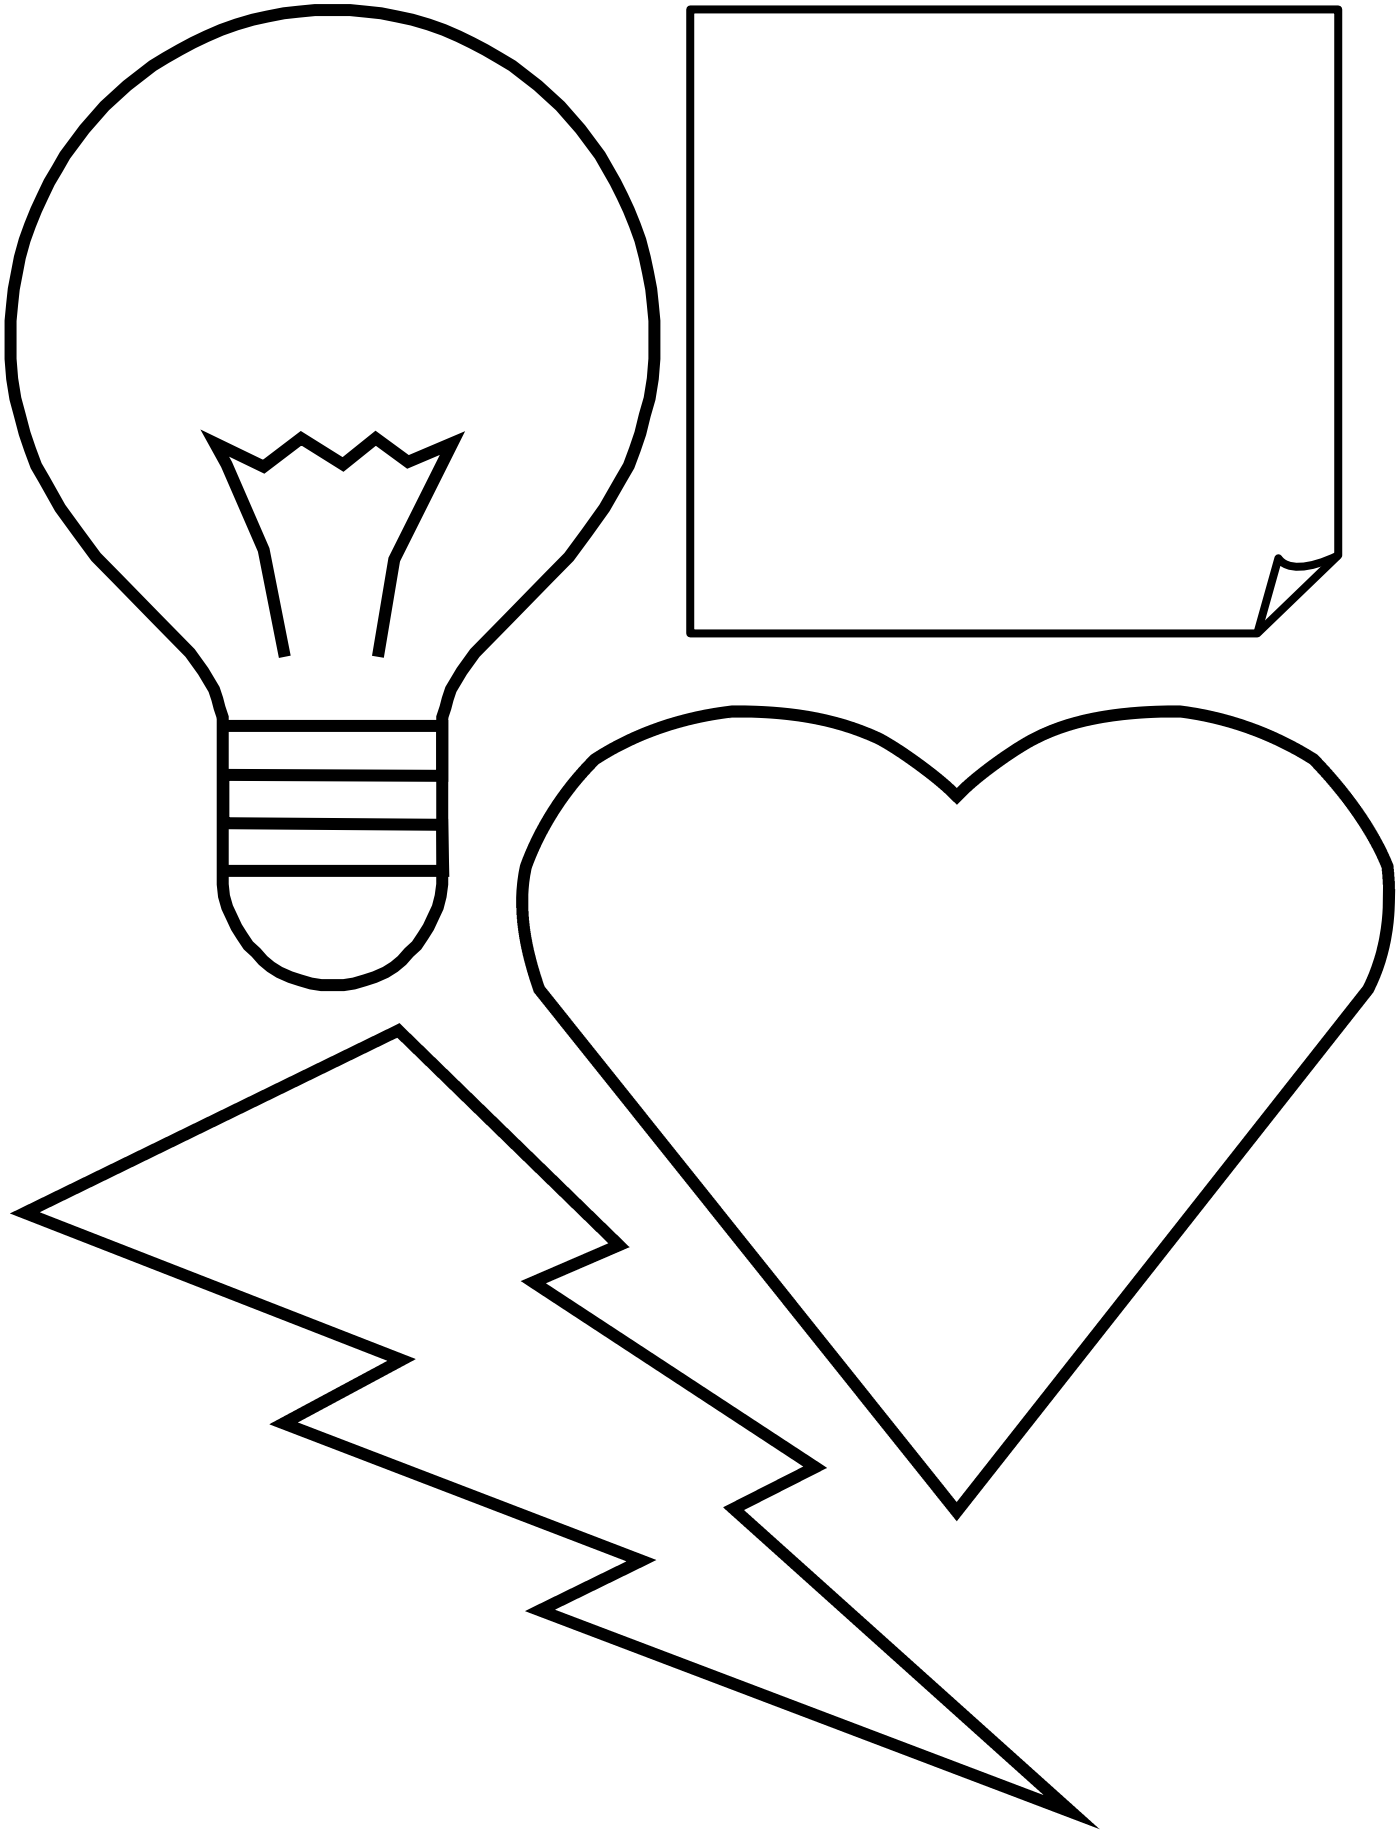
I was very

. touched
. angry
. sad

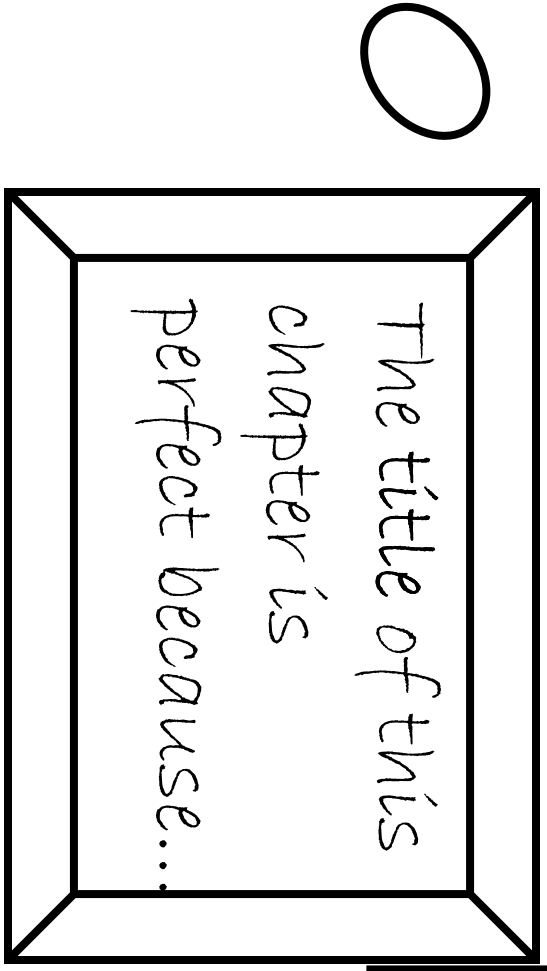
when....

Something shocking or exciting just happened!

Created by Jimmie @ jimmie.scollage.com



Created by Jimmie © jimmie.scollage.com

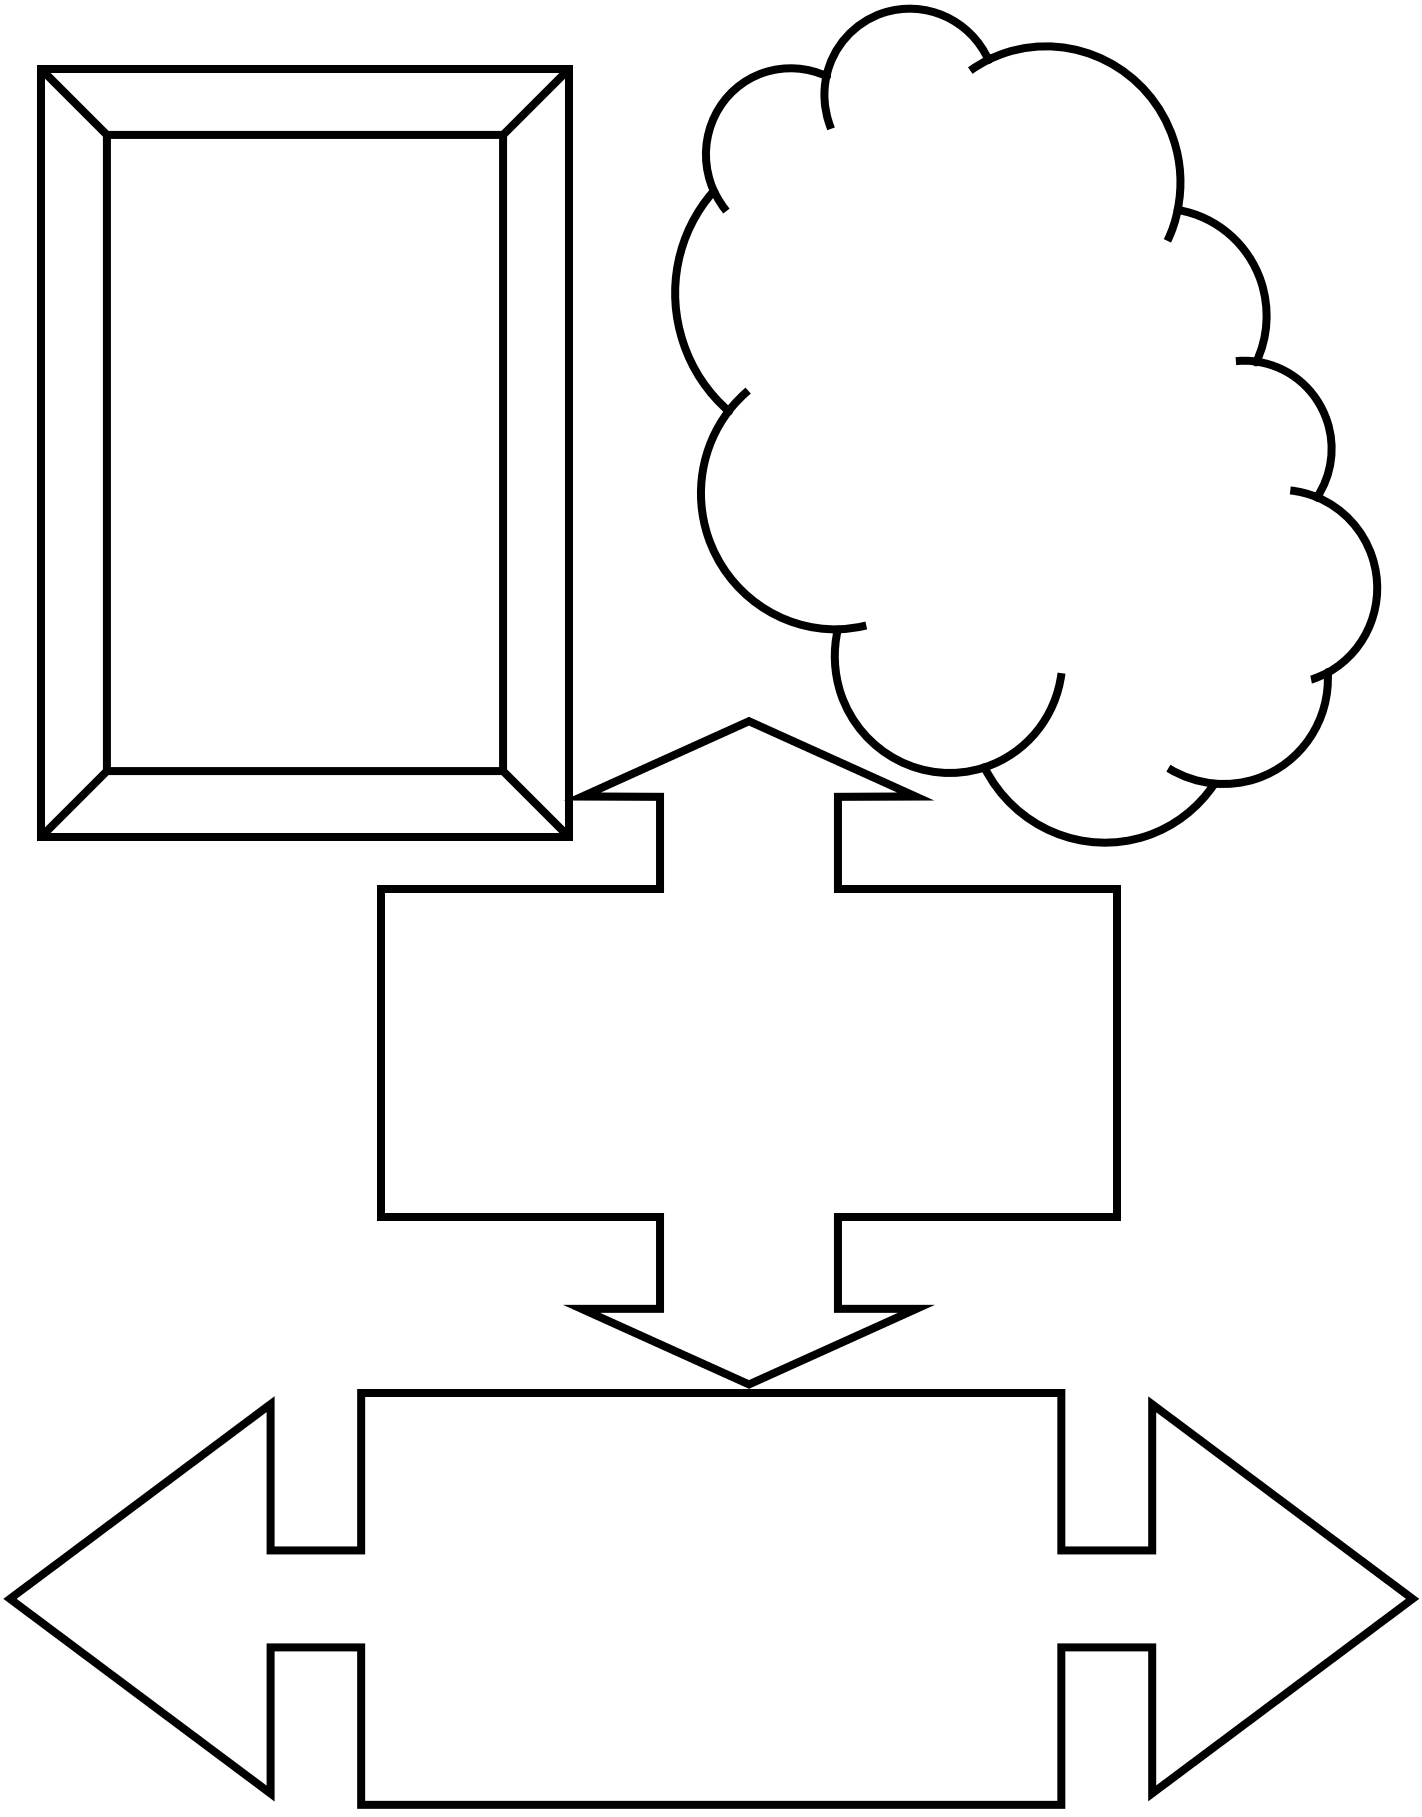


A character just changed or learned something.

I predict _____ will happen next.

Here is a problem or conflict.

Created by Jimmie @ jimmie.scollage.com



Created by Jimmie © jimmie.scollage.com